Financial Conduct and Lending Policy

The Farm Global School of Missions expressly prohibits any borrowing of money between students, as well as between students and coaches, or students and members of the administrative team. This includes all forms of loans, financial exchanges, or debt agreements.

While we deeply encourage a spirit of generosity and mutual care, it is important to note that assistance provided to others should be freely given of your own choice and not in the form of debt or repayment obligations. If you wish to help someone financially, please do so from a heart of generosity, willingly, and not as a loan. If financial assistance is required, please contact the welfare department, which will manage such matters appropriately.

Dress Code

Students are expected to present themselves in a manner that reflects respect for the Lord and others. This includes:

- Modesty: Clothing should be modest, clean, and appropriate for the occasion.
- Neatness: Students should maintain a neat and clean appearance at all times.
- Prohibited Items: Clothing that is revealing, immodest, or inappropriate for a respectful learning environment is prohibited. All attire should reflect a standard of decency, avoiding garments that may be considered disrespectful or distracting in the in person events or the residential campus.

Non-Discriminatory Policy

The Farm Global School of Missions admits students regardless of race, color, religion, nationality, or ethnic origin. We do not discriminate in the administration of educational policies, admissions, scholarships, or other school programs.
